The supplier shall include the declaration on the commercial invoice relating to that consignment, on a delivery note or on any other commercial document which describes the goods concerned in sufficient detail to enable them to be identified. The supplier may provide the declaration at any time, even after the goods have been delivered.

(1) Number and date of the commercial invoice, the delivery note or any other commercial document. (If you don't have enough space in the writing box, fill in the rest of the information on page 5 of this PDF.)

If only some of the goods listed on the document are concerned, they shall be clearly indicated or marked and this marking entered in the declaration as follows:

"... listed on this document and marked originate in ..."

(2) The European Union, country, group of countries or territory, from which the goods originate. (If you don't have enough space in the writing box, fill in the rest of the information on page 6 of this PDF.)

For goods originating in the European Union, 'European Union' must be entered. If abbreviations should be used, please do not use 'EC' but 'EU' to indicate the European Union. The name of an EU member state (e.g. Germany or France) may optionally be mentioned but then the requirement to obtain preferential origin status must be fully met during the production in that single EU member state.

If the goods are of preferential origin from a country with which the EU has preferential agreements (e.g. Switzerland, South Africa, etc.), this country must be declared as the country of origin.

- * For an up-to-date overview of GSP countries please contact the Chamber of Commerce.
-  For Japan you must also refer to the applied origin criterion. For more information, please contact the Chamber of Commerce. They will help you to determine the correct code. You enter this in the product description on page 2.
-  PEM countries (Regional Convention): For these countries the already existing and somewhat stricter origin requirements of the Regional Convention are applied.
- * PEM countries (Transitional Rules). For these countries the adjusted and in many cases simplified origin requirements (transitional rules) are applied. The countries listed here have already implemented the Transitional Rules. For more information, please contact the Chamber of Commerce.

Point of attention:

The requirements to obtain preferential origin status are not the same for all contracting countries listed overleaf under (3). Therefore, please check carefully which requirements apply and remove the names of the countries for which the requirement is not met. If the goods do not originate in the European Union (or an EU Member State) they do not meet the requirements for all countries mentioned but only a part of them. This is complex but very important to fill in correctly. If you have any questions about this, please contact the Chamber of Commerce.

(4) To be completed, where necessary, only for goods having preferential origin status in the context of preferential trade relations with one of the countries with which pan-Euro-Mediterranean cumulation of origin is applicable:

This box is used to indicate whether cumulation has been used in order to obtain the preferential origin status of the goods according to the PEM Regional Convention. This means using raw materials from, or doing parts of the production process, in other PEM Regional Convention countries. If so, enter the names of the countries involved, for example: 'Cumulation has applied with Turkey and Tunisia.' If the goods have obtained the preferential origin status by the production process that has taken place in only one country, fill in: 'No cumulation applied.'
